Rotary Program: September 30, 2015

Program Chair: Kaye Hammond, Shirley Blackburn and Gerrie Clark
Speaker: Appalachian Pregnancy Care Center & "Coats For Kids."

Today, the Rotary Club of Pikeville chose to use the time of our noon meeting as a service project to benefit two of the organizations that we chose to support this year.

First, several Rotarians joined Kaye Hammond, Director of the Appalachian Pregnancy Care Center, in their annual give-away program for young mothers who need car seats for their newborns. Rotarians Bob Ford, Rakesh Sachdeva and his wife, Seema took advantage of the occasion to speak to the parents about Rotary and its support for programs to help the local community as well as the world. As pediatric physicians, Rakesh and Seema also encouraged the parents about the importance of good child-care practices and health care. Then 17 car seats and 2 toddler seats were distributed. Kaye asked all the families and Rotarians to gather at the front entrance to the APCC for pictures to put a final touch on the occasion.

Then, at noon, we gathered in the basement of the BB&T Bank to help with the "Coats for Kids" project. Under the direction of Rotarians Shirley Blackburn and Gerrie Clark, members of the club unpacked, labeled and sorted nearly 3,000 coats for children of all ages in the Pike County and Letcher County school districts. Each coat was tagged with a special card that shared a small message about the love of God in Christ. While we all worked together, Shirley and Gerrie shared stories of children who had received their coats in past years. One little girl was asked where she got her new coat. She replied that it came from Jesus, as she drew the card out of her pocket. She had kept the tag to show everyone and how thankful she was to have a new coat.

The Pikeville Rotary Club donated funds to help purchase the coats, but a large portion also came from donations by local businesses and individuals whose generosity have made this project a success now in its seventh year. Shirley stated that she sincerely believed that this project is one for which God has given her a special burden and she has persevered through many hardships to see it done each year. Gerrie shared how they needed about 250 more coats last year, but didn't have the funds to pay for them. She felt led to order them anyway and trusted her faith that the money would be there. The next day, a donation came to cover the whole amount. This day is a real and living example of what it means to practice service above self. J. Morgan Chapman, Recorder

Ray's Ribs

During a visit to the mental asylum, a visitor as the Director what the criterion was, which defined whether or not a patient should be institutionalized. "Well," said the Director, "we fill up a bathtub, then we offer a teaspoon, a teacup and a bucket to the patient and ask him or her to empty the bathtub" "Oh, I understand," said the visitor." A normal person would use the bucket because it's bigger than the spoon or the teacup." "No". said the Director, " A normal person would pull the plug. Do you want a bed near the window

Membership You can keep your club and membership active and thriving by: Evaluating your club's membership, Finding new members, Engaging current Rotarians

How strong is my club?

Assess your club regularly to learn what works and what doesn't. Ask yourself: Do your members reflect the diverse professions and cultures in your community? Are you achieving your club's goals? What qualities make your club attractive to new members?

Use the Club Assessment Tools to evaluate your club's strengths. Find more ideas for evaluating your club in the guide Strengthening Your Membership: Creating Your Membership Development Plan.

How can I take my club from good to great?

Our Be a Vibrant Club leadership plan challenges Rotarians to revitalize their clubs and better engage new and existing members. Its tips and best practices offer fresh ideas, and the new edition has regionalized versions. Choose the one that best fits where you live.

Your district leaders can also offer solutions. Contact your assistant governor, district membership committee, or district governor, if you feel your club could use a boost.

How do I find new members?

Rotarians join and stay with their clubs primarily because they seek opportunities for community service, fellowship, and friendship. Many of the non-Rotarians you know are looking for the same things. Invite them to help with your service projects, attend a networking night, or participate in a club get-together and help them see for themselves how Rotary connects leaders to make a positive change. Here are some potential candidates to consider for membership:

Friends and family members, Business acquaintances, Professional colleagues Younger community leaders who are already connected to Rotary through Rotaract, RYLA, peace fellowships, Youth Exchange, and other programs

Host an informational meeting

You can share the benefits of joining your club by hosting an information session for potential and new members. Find ideas, along with sample formats, resources, and worksheets in New Member Orientation: A How-to Guide for Clubs.

Prospective member information session

Invite club members to share their experiences, talk about your club's service projects and social activities, and give an overview of Rotary.

New member orientation

Help new members expand their understanding of Rotary by hosting a series of information sessions. Suggested topics include Rotary history, opportunities for service, and The Rotary Foundation.

Courses and webinars

Encourage new and existing members to take advantage of the many resources available through Rotary to stay current. Courses in the Learning Center and webinars make it easy to learn at your own pace.

How do I engage current members?

Work hard to deliver an experience that will keep members engaged and excited about Rotary. Successful strategies include:

- Regularly recognizing members for their achievements
- Keeping members involved in club projects and activities
- Encouraging members to take on club leadership roles
- Sending out monthly email newsletters

Use social media to attract members

Is your club on Facebook? Is your website up-to-date? Are you sharing information about your club's activities and projects with your community? Having an active social media presence can help attract new members and inspire current ones. Find ideas for developing your social media strategy and public image.
